

The Burger Meme Personality Test Walkthrough

To be sure to see all of the main endings, here's what you do (besides dodging some fairly obvious pitfalls, e.g. answering that you're afraid of clowns when they have a clown for a mascot!).

For "Corporate Sellout Burger"

Make your sins -1 or lower. The general way is to be as much of a pro-corporation suck-up as you can. Specifically:

- Don't choose "Abstain" for Question 1.
- Don't choose "I'm finding it hard to answer this question" for Question 2.
- Don't choose "I have a different interpretation of this picture" for Question 3.
- For Question 4, never admit you're scared of clowns. Also, never admit to being a Liberal Arts major. Answering "No" when asked if you're a Liberal Arts major will reduce your sins by one.
- For Question 5, choose either of the first two choices. Either will reduce your sins by one.
- For Question 7, pick "Futuristic Soldier." It won't reduce sins, but it keeps you away from "Poet," which could end the game.
- For Question 8, don't say you're vegetarian or vegan, and don't pick Condor. For safety, choose Arroyo Toad and stick with it. You'll get a sin, but you still have one to spare if you've followed these instructions so far, and this will speed you through the game.
- Obviously, for Question 9, save Brio.
- When you get to the "You're Hired" screen, choose "Awesome."

For "Dodged That Bullet Burger"

Just make sure your sins are zero or higher. There are a lot of ways to get sins. Just don't brownnose too much. For safety, on Question 5, choose "You could not pay me enough" and then, on the next page, click "No" a bunch of times.

For "Friendship Burger," "Ships Passing Burger," or "Love Connection Burger"

The keys are A) having sins of zero or higher; B) making a choice along the way that accuses the AI of not being an AI.

Perhaps the easiest of these choices to find is in Question 9. Choose "The Trolley Problem? Are you trolling me?" Then, choose "This test is a farce, and you are not an AI. You're a disgruntled employee who's getting their kicks off of toying with my job application."

After your results from Question 9, you'll get the "No" burger. Choose "My thanks for the opportunity to Burger Meme in general, and specifically to the person pretending to be an AI, who actually thinks I'm a pretty decent person and is glad I won't be working in this corporate cesspit."

After the "Two Weeks Later" page, you'll find yourself on the dating site unStrangr.me. The choices you have will lead to different endings.

To see the "Ships Passing Burger" ending, choose "Too creepy, bro. Please don't message me again."

To see the "Friendship Burger" ending, choose "Let's get a coffee. But it's just a friendly meeting, okay?"

To see the "Love Connection Burger" ending, choose "Let's get a coffee and see what happens."

For either "Friendship Burger" or "Love Connection Burger," you'll need to make the following choices during your coffee meet-up. Choose whatever gender you want from Jwala. Then, on the next page:

- For "Friendship Burger," choose "surprisingly easy" from the drop-down menu.
- For "Love Connection Burger," choose "amazing" from the drop-down menu.

If you have any other questions about endings or the game in general, you can reach me through this page: <https://hernandooney.com/contact/>

Thanks for playing!